

Why Pursue a Combined One Health & Veterinary Public Health Residency?

Our One Health/Veterinary Public Health Residency offers an unparalleled opportunity to develop expertise at the intersection of animal, human, and environmental health. Over three years, you'll gain comprehensive training, practical experience, and transdisciplinary collaboration that few programs can match. This residency not only equips you with the skills to address complex health challenges but also helps prepare you to sit for the American College of Veterinary Preventive Medicine (ACVPM) board exam, setting you apart as a leader in One Health and Veterinary Public Health.

Veterinary Medicine

1580 E Hanley Blvd.
Oro Valley, AZ 85737

www.vetmed.arizona.com

ADVANCE YOUR VETERINARY CAREER

Gain specialized training in One Health and Veterinary Public Health during our three-year residency.

Minimum Qualifications

- DVM or equivalent degree
- Acceptance to or current enrollment in the Master of Public Health program through the University of Arizona College of Public Health, concurrent with the residency program
- Valid US driver's license or ability to obtain one within the first six months

Preferred Qualifications

- 2-3 years of relevant work experience in private practice, corporate, or government settings in veterinary medicine, veterinary public health, and/or animal health

Educational Highlights

COMPREHENSIVE TRAINING

Engage in diverse experiential activities for broad training and applied experience in veterinary public health practice.

NETWORKING OPPORTUNITIES

Build essential networks and develop key leadership skills to excel in the veterinary public health workforce.

ADVANCED EDUCATION

Complete a Master of Public Health degree through the University of Arizona College of Public Health in the first two years.

Residency Benefits

Enjoy exceptional benefits designed to support you, including tuition remission, comprehensive health insurance, family and medical leave, and paid parental leave.

About Us

The University of Arizona College of Veterinary Medicine is shaping the future of veterinary professionals by preparing graduates to tackle today's challenges confidently. By emphasizing competency-based, hands-on, student-centered learning, the college has become a national leader in veterinary medical education.

Ready to take the next step?

Applications open in late fall for the following fall semester. Watch for our listing on the AVMA Career Center, and don't miss your chance to apply!

Have questions? Contact Dr. Jennifer Wishnie, One Health/Veterinary Public Health Residency Director, at VPHResidency@arizona.edu.

